

Call for Applications: Associate Professor in Mathematical Sciences

Graduate School of Mathematical Sciences, the University of Tokyo, invites applications for a tenured associate professorship in mathematical sciences. We plan to hire one or two persons for this position. The actual hiring will begin on September 1, 2019, or as early as possible after this date. The salary is based on the regular salary scale of our university and thus depends on the academic carrier of the applicant.

Applicants are required to possess a PhD degree or to obtain one by the commencement of the contract. As for teaching, regular faculty members of our graduate school, in principle, teach courses in Japanese. Applicants should prepare (1) CV, (2) list of publications in which three most important articles are marked, (3) copies of up to 10 major articles, (4) a summary of past research activities, (5) research plans and a brief description of their idea for education, (6) three names of possible referees with their e-mail addresses, (7) a document certifying the teaching ability in Japanese.

Applications should be sent to the following address by March 29, 2019:

Dean of the Graduate School of Mathematical Sciences
the University of Tokyo
Meguro-ku Komaba 3-8-1, Tokyo 153-8914, Japan
