

Call for Applications: Project Assistant Professor in Mathematical Sciences

Graduate School of Mathematical Sciences, the University of Tokyo, invites applications for a project assistant professorship in mathematical sciences. We plan to hire one or two persons for this position. The contract starts on the earliest possible date after April 1, 2016 and ends on March 31, 2020. The average salary is about 5,500,000 yen/year. In addition, a health insurance plan will be provided.

Applicants are required to possess a PhD degree or to obtain one by the commencement of the contract. As for teaching, project assistant professors of our graduate school, in principle, teach exercises in Japanese.

Applicants should prepare (1) CV, (2) list of publications in which three most important articles are marked, (3) information on downloading important articles or copies of them if it is not available on the web, (4) a summary of past research activities, (5) research plans, (6) a brief description of their idea for education, (7) three names of possible referees with their e-mail addresses, (8) a document certifying the teaching ability in Japanese.

Applications should be arrived at the following address by January 8, 2016:

Dean of the Graduate School of Mathematical Sciences
the University of Tokyo
Meguro-ku Komaba 3-8-1, Tokyo 153-8914, Japan

IMPORTANT: This English version of the invitation for applications is prepared only for reference purposes. Applicants should consult the Japanese version, which is the sole authentic document:

<http://www.ms.u-tokyo.ac.jp/news/docs/20151124tokuninjokyo.pdf>

The contract is subject to the terms of employment of the University of Tokyo.

Inquiries about this invitation may be addressed by E-mail to dean(AT)ms.u-tokyo.ac.jp.